The Top Ten Mistakes Teens and Tweens Make on Social Media

-- November 15, 2017 --

About the Presenter: Lori Smith is a shareholder in the Orlando law firm of Zimmerman, Kiser and Sutcliffe, where she has practiced law since graduating from the University of Florida school of law in 1995. Over the past 20 years, Lori has built a boutique practice as a private education lawyer, representing independent schools throughout the State of Florida. For the past 5 years she has been a frequent lecturer on social media usage by teens and tweens, speaking around the state with her popular presentations "The Top Ten Mistakes Teens Make on Social Media" and "Smart Social Media Usage: How Teens can use Social Media to Build a Positive Brand." It's Lori's goal to give teens straightforward, timely, real world examples of how social media mistakes can impact their future. Lori also speaks to parents of teens and tweens educating them on the social media habits of teens and the social media violations that can most often impact school enrollment, and limit future opportunities.

● Learn about the most common mistakes teens and tweens make on social media and how it impacts their future.

● Understand the legal implication of social media mistakes

● Learn how to monitor children to avoid school disciplinary issues

● Learn about new Apps popular with teens and the risks involved
