Do certain sounds bother your child?
Does your child have autism?

- We are doing a research study to evaluate a treatment for improving auditory hyper-sensitivity in children with autism spectrum disorders.

- This FREE treatment will:
  - teach participants self-regulation skills
  - gently and systematically expose them to auditory stimuli to teach them to better tolerate specific sounds

- If you are interested in participating in our study, please contact:

  Tana Carson, Ph.D., OTR/L
  Principal Investigator
  (352) 273-6136
  bleser@ufl.edu

  Lisa Guerrero, M.Ed., BCBA
  Research Assistant
  (954) 907-4795
  lisa.guerrero@ufl.edu